can do. What we need are moral notor centers, dedicated to nobler uses. The same alternative which confronts Downing street in the book nentioned confronts the United States. Our culture life must be sufised with moral purpose, or else there ill be an explosion. Ereud declared If all people are selfish the sage is no better than the fool; only a little ore dangerous.

"There must be a religious power working in man's life; a sense of God -call it what you will. Devotion to Christ must operate in man's heart to olve our problems. A prominent man said to me recently that the troubl with educated people is that they are self-complacent and indifferent to present situations. They bear the privileges of education without its esponsibilities. A great writer on ducation answers that this criticism s not justified, although the facts annot be denied. Colossal selfishnes means that we are morally doomed. Storm Period of Life

"Another critic of education de clares that the moral values have ropped out of education. There spiritual indifference and a loss o reverence for God. Parents complain hat their children return home from college indifferent to religious things Some of these things are facts, bu this is not the proper explanation of conditions. The critical period of adolescence must be taken into conideration in the education of youth It is a storm period which needs most careful piloting. In this Christian professors can help a great deal. But what the parents and home have taught them before coming to college exerts a great influence also. Education does not desocialize; it does not nake the soul broader and truer.

The absence of moral earnestness n either student or teacher is deadening. Good results must come from moral heat centers. For there is such a thing as a magic moral center from which grows the better life. Henry Drummond declared that a sense of God accomplished this for him. Wilfred Grenfell testifies that his whole educational and professional viewpoint changed when he got a personal experience of God. Alonzo Stagg, always a staunch Christian leader, gives a testimony of a similar experience. "Now what may this mean specifically to teachers in Jacksonville? Will you accept Christian obligations, motivations and ideals? Will you stand for an agreement of science and the Christ-life in the world? Or will you ostitute the powers and privileges of education to selfish and sordid purposes? Upon a favorable response to this question depends the future of civilization, and the destinies of the Kingdom of God.

FOR BEGINNERS or for any woman who does not feel she has mastered the Art of Cookery

COOKING SCHOOL Katherine Caldwell

A New Course of 12 EASY LESSONS

EXTRA! $50 in Merchandise

Offered to Readers Who Follow These Lessons

WATCH FOR DETAILS!

NE of the tragedies of the age is the household wherein there is not a good cook—one who really knows food, for in that household there is sure to be waste which works against the family finances, just as improperly prepared and improperly combined foods work against the family health, causing unhappiness and no end of trouble. To those who do not consider the subject seriously it may not seem so important at the first glance. But it is the unmistakable truth that there is no accomplishment known to women which can compare with that of being a good cook. It does not matter whether the woman in question is to do her own work or have a staff of servants—these are the reasons for this new cookery course.

After five years of preparation, Katherine Caldwell is offering to all readers of this paper, her new 12 Lesson Course in the Art of Cookery, making it possible for everyone, regardless of their income, to find a new thrill in the preparation of food. These new easy ways are without a doubt the most interesting and economical

The first lesson will appear in the Tuesday, October 2 Courier, and Wednesday, October 3 Journal. The other eleven lessons in the course will appear on this same day each week for eleven weeks. Read and study every paragraph. You will find the lessons decidedly helpful in the future as well as the present.

White Hall Rain is 2.46 Inches in Day

White Hall.—The heaviest rainfall for many years fell in White Hall on Friday. Rain fell most of the day and during the late afternoon and early evening it came in torrents. The total for the day was 2.6 inches, which rused the water level in the city reservoir about eighteen inches, and Apple Creek was bank full. The total rainfall for September was 7.52 inches, which was double the average rainfall for September since the records have been kept in White Hall from 1866 to

This locality was extremely dry during the past five months preceding September. The total rainfall since April 1 was only 6.22 inches and in May there was only 37 of an inch and in July .04 of an inch. Many wells were dry that were never dry before and many farmers hauled water from White Hall to water their stock. Wells are still low, but there has been water in the ponds and streams since the September rains began. IN BATES ACCIDENT September rains began.

JRL IN THE FAMILY"

Synopsis

Susan Broderick and her aunt, Lutie, who had seen more prosperous times, order a pillow at Hart's department store, where the family had a charge account for years. They are summoned to the office of the manager, Mr. Dillon, who informs them the account has been discontinued as it had not been paid for five mouths. Susie and Lutie leave in embarrassment. Lutie goes home by trolley, but Susan prefers to walk. Entoute, the latter meets her fiance, Wallace Steffen, rising young banker. Susan and Wallace are distinctly different types; he is the sheltered, meticulous type, while she is the kind who loves to walk in the rain and go without gloves in the winter. Susan realizes that, while her future life with Wallace will not be thrilling, it will be comfortable. Tender-hearted Susan shows little enthusiasm when Wallace plans to inspect a house which the present owners are forced to sell because of the set of the sold of the worthy teetered on the present owners are forced to sell because of the worthy teetered out for dinner, and the family when the wanted, and paid me the first week's money for the stayed out for dinner, and the family knew that he spent those evenings with a widow who was one of his clients—a Mrs. Ada Hopper. "You know just how desperate things are with us, Susan!" Lutie broke in sharply. "You know what happened to you and me in Hart's store today. We simply don't have any ready money at all these days."

"We haven't had any to speak of for years." Aunt Edna's voice chimed in. "But the thing that made your uncle decide to rent part of the house was a letter that he got from Mapes this morning. One of the tenants is going to move on the first, and the others want their rent cut. . . Worthy says he'll have to cut it."

"Mapes was the janitor of The Broderick Arms. He came to Center Street once a month to help Anna wash windows and woodwork, and every Saturday afternoon he went downtown to clean the law office of Susan's father, Morris Broderick."
